BOYS GET TERM IN LANCASTER SCHOOL FOR BIKE THEFTS

Charles Boise, 13, son of Mrs. Louella Boise, 435 South Fifth-st. and Eliza Weston, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Weston, 439 West Pine-st. were taken to the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster Thursday afternoon by Probation officer E. C. Rinne.

The Boise youth had served one year in the school and was recently released on probation. Both boys were found guilty recently by the juvenile court of a heavy traffic in stolen bicycles. It is said that the two boys had been taken under the supervision of a local club after being released from the juvenile court on a previous charge. Upon leaving an entertainment where they had been taken by their trustees, they stole two bicycles and rode to Sugar Creek before they were caught, it was said. The boys were again hauled into the juvenile court, classified as incorrigible, and sentenced to the industrial school.

TEN ARRESTED FOR BLOWING UP MINE

PITTSBURGH, May 12.—Ten men lodged in jail at noon following the dynamiting of the Peterman Coal Mine at North Bessemer early today by a group of miners estimated to number close to one hundred. Threats to wreck other mines with dynamite were not carried into execution. A large force of deputies dispersed the band of matchers which blew up the Peterman mine. No specific charge has been lodged against the men now in jail here, but they are being held for a thorough questioning by the sheriff.

CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS, BUSINESS MEN, CLUBS AND LODGES WANT LIBRARY OPEN THIS SUMMER

"Shall the public library be closed from May 15 until September 15, or will the citizens of Coshocton donate the money necessary to keep it open?" That is the question which a committee composed of Coshocton business men will put before the general public at Coshocton within the next few days. At a meeting of members of the Coshocton Business Men's Association held Thursday evening, a committee was appointed to enlist the aid of civic organizations in raising the money. Members of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Federation of Women's Clubs were present, and they approved of a campaign to raise money for the library.

WHITE CARNATION FOR MOTHERS' DAY

Wear one, for Mother. The white carnation has been selected as the official flower for Mothers' Day, not only because of its beauty but because of its particular significance. Mothers' Day is Sunday, May 14. In the language of flowers, this blossom is sweetness and purity. It retains its freshness longer than almost any other. Because its own qualities and meaning so describe the qualities of the ideal mother, it is considered the most appropriate flower to symbolize the occasion.

SERIES OF RULES FOR PEDESTRIANS ISSUED BY CITY'S SAFETY DIRECTOR

Pedestrians should keep to the right when walking for the same reason that motorists keep to the right when riding, in the opinion of Victor Johnson, city service and safety director.

Personal collisions, while not as destructive, are just as annoying as automobile collisions, and could be avoided a great deal easier Johnson believes, by the observance of the following rules:

- Keep on the right hand side of the sidewalk while walking.
- Don't stop in the middle of the sidewalk to gaze at a shop window. Walk up to the window.
- For a street conversation, step to the edge of the curb, out of the way of passers-by.
- Another thing the safety director remonstrated against, was the practice of throwing scraps of paper on the sidewalks and streets. Metal containers for waste have been provided by the city and placed at convenient places on Main-st. The use of them would make the streets look much cleaner, Johnson believes.
- To aid in keeping the streets clean, Johnson advises that store keepers have their sidewalks swept late Friday.

MRS. EMMA BAKER DIES AT HOME OF DAUGHTER THURS

Death due to rheumatism and dropsy, claimed Mrs. Emma Baker, aged 75, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Kall, 203 south Fifth-st. Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Baker had been confined to her room for the past four years suffering from rheumatism. Dropsy developed recently.

Mrs. Baker's maiden name was Miss Emma Latham. She was born on July 10, 1846 in Plainfield. She resided in Plainfield for several years. She spent a number of years in the west, including considerable time in Wyoming.

For the past 20 years, Mrs. Baker had made her home with her daughter. Miss Latham was married twice. She first married Seth Wiggins, of Plainfield. He died about 46 years ago. She later married Rogan Baker. He preceded his wife to the grave about 26 years ago. She was a member of the Plainfield M. P. church and had never changed her membership. Mrs. Baker was the last surviving member of a family of twelve children. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Kall, south Fifth-st. and two step-daughters, Mrs. William Higgin, and Mrs. George Gardner, both of South Dakota. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the daughter's home on south Fifth-st. with Rev. W. B. Winters, of the Grace M. E. church in charge. Burial will be made in the Plainfield cemetery.

(What George (Buck) Weaver, banished White Sox ball player, declares to be the true inside story of the "throwing" of an American league pennant—the pennant of 1917—is told in the following exclusive interview. Weaver was interviewed following the announcement that Charles A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago American league club, had been summoned to appear in court in Milwaukee to show cause why he should not be questioned regarding certain 1917 games.—Editor.)

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN
Copyright 1922 By I. N. S.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Detroit "throw" the 1917 American league pennant to Chicago according to George Weaver, former third baseman of the White Sox who took part in the alleged "fixed" games.

The Tigers, he said today, deliberately permitted the White Sox to win seven games at the tail end of the season when Chicago and Boston were racing neck and neck for the flag.

The sensational charge that practically the entire Detroit 1917 team, many of whom are still playing in the American league and all the White Sox regulars, including several noted stars still with the club were "in" on the fixing of the games was made by Weaver.

Each White Sox, he alleges, contributed $45 or $50 to a pool which was turned over to the Detroit player.

GEN. WU OUTLINES POLICIES; WANTS A NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

LONDON, May 12.—Renewal of civil war is threatened in China according to advices from Peking today. They reported that Manchurians were preparing to take the field in a new campaign against Peking, and the city's guardian army under Gen. Wu Pei Fu.

PAO TING FU, China, May 12.—General Wu Pei Fu, who has returned to this vantage point to watch cabinet making in Peking, announced today that he would not undertake another campaign against his enemies—General Chang Tso-Lin and Dr. Sun Yat Sen.

"I would prefer a national assembly for the reunification of China and the formulation of a new national constitution said Gen. Wu. If there is a widespread popular demand for such an assembly, I shall give it all the support in my power, but I will not take initiative. I do not want to do anything that would give me the appearance of a dictator. I am not a dictator, but merely wish to use authority as I have to carry out the wishes of the people.

"If there is no desire for a national assembly, then for the time being, I am content to have affairs administered by a cabinet of able and honest men. It shall have my support. My own policies might be grouped as follows:

- 1.—Constitution checking Japan in Manchuria and Shantung.
- 2.—Disbandment of all troops beginning with those of the armies that were recently defeated.
- 3.—Rectification of the financial and communications department of the government.
- 4.—Employment of soldier labor for the erection of irrigation and drainage works to prevent floods and to augment the crops so as to prevent famine.

Gen. Wu intimated that he was hopeful that the Canton government would cease to exist.

Gen. Wu then outlined the program in details. It includes these features:

- Reorganization of the national finances.
- Provision for foreign loans on a plan opening the way for foreign money to enter China with safe guarantees and without obstruction to the development of national resources.
- Creation of a famine preventing conservancy board.
- A program of railway extension to foster development.
- Disbandment of unnecessary army corps.
- Institution of legal reforms and reformation of the country's system of jurisprudence.

Gen. Wu was enroute to his new headquarters when interviewed.

What steps are to be taken to bring about the abolition of the southern government were not indicated.

MERGER FORERUNNER OF POWERFUL TRUST, IS RUMOR; SENATE WILL PROBE DEAL

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 12.—That the merger of the Bethlehem and Lackawanna steel corporations is but the forerunner of a gigantic combination which in addition to the Bethlehem and Lackawanna concerns would include the Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Republic Iron and Steel, Brier Hill Steel, all of Youngstown; the Steel and Tube Co. of America; and Inland Steel, both of Chicago, and the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Co. of Johnstown, is the belief expressed here today in well informed steel circles.

Such an organization, headed by Charles M. Schwab, one of the best organizers and executives in the steel industry, would prove a most powerful competitor of the U. S. Steel corporation.

"Nothing to say," was all that James A. Campbell, president of the Sheet and Tube would say today. Other officials followed his example.

Only recently was the merger of the Lackawanna and the Sheet and Tube Co. proposed. The matter in terms of Cleveland area large stock holders in both concerns and have directors on the Sheet and Tube board.

Those in the know claim the Youngstown Sheet and Tube will pursue the course of the Lackawanna or be the nucleus of a steel corporation merger closely associated with the Bethlehem-Lackawanna combine. Those financially interested in Lackawanna and Sheet and Tube stock must have been fully informed of the negotiations between Moses Taylor and Charles M. Schwab, it is pointed out. The former was here on an inspection trip last week. The steel magnates, it is said could hardly be expected to keep such a deal secret.

Flyers Rescued

LISBON, May 12.—The Portuguese flyers, Captains Saceradura and Coutinho, who fell into the sea between Fernando Noronha and St. Paul's Rocks while attempting an Atlantic flight have been picked up by the English steamer Paris City according to wireless advices received here today. A Portuguese warship is steaming toward the Paris City's position and will take the men aboard.

It is suggested that the series be clipped and filed for future reference if not used immediately.

FARQUHAR SUES DARLING ESTATE TO SECURE NOTE

A suit for the collection of $6,138.97 from the estate of Washington Darling has been filed in common pleas court by W. C. Farquhar against Edward and Thomas Lee Darling, executors of the estate and Hervey Holter Darling, a beneficiary of the will.

The plaintiff says there is due him from the defendant, Hervey Darling, $6,138.97 with interest from March 29, 1922, on a promissory note dated at Hope, Arkansas, October 5, 1912. The original note was for $5,515. The position states that on June 18, $3,450.75 was paid on the note.

On October 5, 1912 to secure payment on the note, Hervey Darling gave the plaintiff a mortgage on the chattels he was to receive from the estate of Washington Darling, according to the terms of the will which had been filed at the time, the petition sets forth.

As beneficiary of the estate, the plaintiff states that the defendant is seized of one fifth of the property. Aside from that, the plaintiff alleges the defendant has not sufficient property to satisfy the indebtedness on the note.

He asks judgment for $6,138.97 with interest, and also asks that the executors of the will be enjoined from paying over to the defendant one fifth or any part of the estate of Washington Darling, and that his share of the estate be applied to the indebtedness on the note. Shepler and Burklew represent the plaintiff.

Lloyd George Plays Trump Card In Conference And Accepts Russian Reply To Allied Conditions—All Existing Frontiers Would Stand Pending Arrival At Permanent Russian Agreement—French Are Disgruntled

GENOA, May 12.—The first great constructive step in the international economic conference was taken today when Premier Lloyd George, head of the British delegation, laid the foundations for his long heralded ten year non-aggression pact to preserve the peace of Europe.

In an official statement issued from British headquarters announcement was made that:

1.—The British Empire delegation has accepted the Russian reply as the satisfactory basis of European peace.

2.—The British will formally propose a truce based on existing frontiers and pending the work of the conference commissioners and the formation of a definite Russian agreement.

A break on this document would mean that all the border states would be exposed to danger of a war and the peace of Europe might be fundamentally disturbed, said the British official statement in reference to the Russian note of last night.

The appointment of a commission seems a practical way to carry on the study of the Russian problem, than a much more difficult way than if we had done so.

The commission referred to by the British was the same one proposed by the Russians in their answer. They suggested that an international committee be created to study in particular the question of a loan to assist Russian reconstruction and compensation for nationalized property in Russia.

The British pointed out that the character of the Russian reply made it apparent that Russia must wait for some time before securing long term credits.

"If Russia undertakes to refrain from aggression, then the other powers must enter a similar pact," continued the British official announcement.

"We are quite prepared to take up the suggestion of a mixed committee to study debts and private property." "Apart from the expression on peace the document is full of idle propaganda. Instead of practical suggestions," said the head of the French delegation.

ADJOINING TOWNSHIP SUES PIKE FOR $668 TUITION SINCE 1915

A suit for the collection of tuition fees has been filed against the board of education of Pike-twp., Coshocton-co., by the board of education of Fallsburg-twp., Licking-co., in common pleas court.

The rural school districts of the two townships are adjoining and the plaintiff states in the petition that pupils from Pike-twp. who were assigned to schools in that township, attended school in Fallsburg-twp. The plaintiff says the pupils lived farther than one and one half mile from the school where they were assigned, and that no transportation facilities were provided by Pike-twp.

During the school terms of 1915-1916 and 1916-1917 there were three pupils from Pike-twp. attending school in Fallsburg-twp. In 1918-1919 there were four, in 1919-1920, five in 1920-1921, two in 1921-1922 five. The plaintiff asks judgment for $668, with interest of 6 per cent. Ralph Norpell, prosecuting attorney of Licking-co., and the firm of Flory and Flory of Newark, represent the plaintiff.

ART EXHIBIT AT SCHOOL ATTRACTS MANY SPECTATORS

Rich Asphaltic Deposits.
Bituminous sands 150-200 feet thick lie along the Athabaska river for 73 miles. Drawn out by the sun the tar runs into deep pools. Similar sands are found at intervals from latitude 57 degrees north to beyond the Arctic circle. The soaked area is possibly 10,000 square miles in extent. This deposit represents the largest known occurrence of solid asphaltic material.

GIVE A BABY SYRUP PEPSIN

Constipation, biliousness and like annoying ills will quickly disappear

A MOTHER is always anxious to give the safest and best medicine to a constipated baby, but is puzzled which to select. Let her decide by the ingredients on the package.

Every bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the formula printed plainly on the outside of the carton under the portrait of Dr. Caldwell, who wrote the prescription in 1892. You will find that it is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin. It will not gripe the baby, and it is free from narcotics. A bottle sufficient to last a family several months can be had at any drug store, and the cost is only about a cent a dose.

While no one, young or old, needs take a drastic purgative like salts or calomel, be especially careful what you give a child. Some contain minerals, coal tar and other drugs that might prove dangerous by over stimulating the intestines or depressing the heart. The ingredients of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are recommended by the U. S. Pharmacopoeia.

Half-Ounce Bottle Free

Few escape constipation, so even if you do not require a laxative at this moment let me send you a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of my Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE so that you will have it handy when needed. HEALTH BRINGS BEAUTY

When You're Run-down Weak or Nervous, You Do Not Look Well. Cambridge, Ohio.—"I was in a run-down state of health with scarcely ambition enough to do my housework, when I first learned of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, about a year ago. I had doctoring but obtained no benefit, but one bottle of the Favorite Prescription put me on my feet and strengthened me in every way. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proved to be an excellent tonic and nerve and I highly recommend it as such to all women who have become weak and run-down."—Mrs. Virginia Leslie, 415 Long St.

Your health is the most valuable asset you have—do not delay but obtain this "Prescription" now of your nearest druggist in tablets or liquid; or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. or write for free medical advice.

PILE SUFFERERS

Can You Answer These Questions?

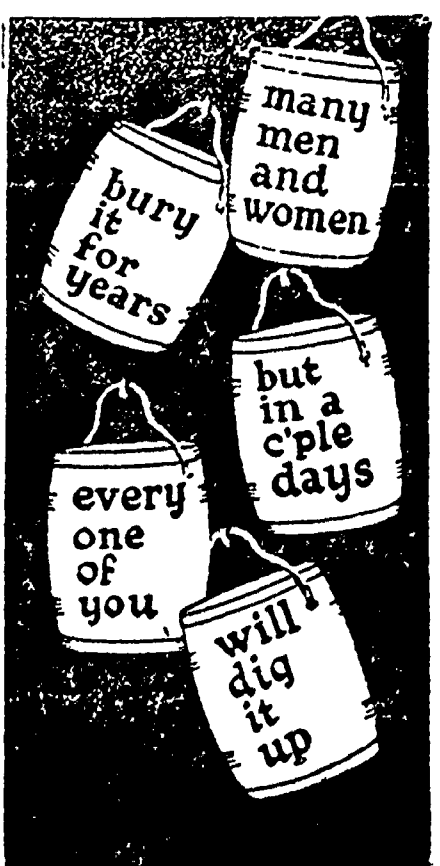

Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief? Why cutting and operations fail? Do you know the cause of piles is internal?

That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal tablet remedy discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by Wimmer Arnold Co. and druggists generally, that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the internal cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers, and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you.

"TWO GUN JUSTICE" PASSES FROM WEST

Peace Officers In Pullmans Supplant Horsemen Of Plains

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The old order of justice on the far-flung plains of the west is changing.

Hard-riding two-gun plainsmen are passing from the picture and in their stead come lean, youthful law enforcement officers riding Pullman cars instead of ponies. The gradual change in the west's famous posses became a matter of history recently when a "Pullman car posse" raided forty-five private distilleries in Wyoming to the complete bewilderment of all old-timers.

The posse, headed by State Prohibition Commissioner Carl Jackson, left Cheyenne, famous old frontier town, late one night in a special Pullman car attached to a transcontinental limited, the car traveling under sealed orders, not even the train crew knowing its destination. Shortly after dawn Director Jackson issued his orders and the car was dropped on a little siding.

Forty deputy marshals, sworn in for the raid, dropped from the car and disappeared in the early dawn. They traveled in squads, each squad having special orders to raid certain suspected "bootleg joints." The raiders scattered thru three frontier towns—Rock Springs, Green River and South Superior.

Prisoners Brought In. In ten minutes the first prisoners were being brot back to the car head quarters along with samples of confiscated liquor. U. S. Commissioner L. H. Brown held a "drum head" court in the Pullman drawing room. F. D. Stribling, division chemist, established an impromptu laboratory at the other end of the car.

Samples of the seized liquors were given to Stribling. As quickly as he decided they were illegal the prisoners were taken before Commissioner Brown at the opposite end of the Pullman. In a half hour sixty-two prisoners had been taken, arraigned before Brown and held in bail for trial before the Federal Court in Cheyenne.

Looting Natural Resources

THE process by which some of our most eminent "self-made men" became self-made is illustrated in Alaska. "The Interior Department is arranging to transfer coal mines in Alaska, developed by the American navy, to private mining interests by lease," reads a dispatch from Washington. The process of intense looting of natural resources which followed the civil war extends to Alaska, practically the last great prize of this kind that is left for such looting.

Power sites, forests, coal and mineral deposits have been the booty of investors and corporations. It recalls the Olympic Forest grab in the State of Washington. After many pleas made in the name of prospective settlers the Federal authorities threw 700,000 acres to entry. Timber sharks gathered practically all this in as plunder for corporations. Nine years after this 100 settlers had located on 570 acres of land. Just how many "self-made men" issued from this deal we do not know.

The known deposits of coal in Alaska amount to over 20,000,000 acres with more to be discovered. Since the notorious Ballinger scandal in Taft's cabinet, attempts have been made by big corporations to obtain control of the fabulous natural riches of Alaska. The attempt of the Guggenheim-Morgan interests, known as the "Morganheims," to grab this natural wealth was frustrated nearly 10 years ago.

Secretary Fall is known to have profound affection for "benevolent assimilation" by corporations of the remaining natural riches of the nation. This is a continuance of the policy begun nearly 60 years ago to consider these resources as the legitimate booty of private exploiters. They have spawned quite a number of our parvenu rich. The policy regards these resources as a means of fertilizing private and corporate capital at the expense of millions of workers for whom these resources would serve as a means of settlement and winning a measure of economic independence.

Is there any necessity of asking, to whom do the government and its natural resources belong?

Thrift And Tragedy

THE gospel of Thrift! Was it not brot to us by every writer of war time propaganda as the one great message to the masses? Save, save, save! Get a reserve for the rainy day! Provide for your old age! Thrift stamps for the war even!

It was a very noisy campaign while it lasted. Of late, we hear little of the slogan of thrift.

There is a reason. The aftermath of the great war has smashed it. Here is a thrift story from Vienna, one of thousands and myriads in war-stricken Europe:

A working woman in Vienna had been practicing thrift for 21 years. Up to the beginning of the war she had regularly taken her thrift results to the savings bank, a few kronen at a time. Good kronen they were, too, whether in silver, gold or paper money.

When war came she had to stop saving. But she felt great comfort looking at her book and its balance, 1,750 kronen. A nice nestegg, to be sure.

For years her husband did not get a new suit. He wore his old one, mended and patched by his thrifty spouse. Lately it got too shabby and worn for further patching. The wife went to the savings bank to draw from her reserve. They offered her money, paper money current in Austria now. Money in paper kronen. The kind that will buy an American dollar in exchange for seven or eight thousand kronen. The poor woman discovered to her dismay that all her savings would not amount to a flea bite. They would not buy the cheapest new suit for her husband.

The fairy tale of the witch gold that turns into ashes had become grim reality in the poor creature's case. It had turned out the same way in millions and millions of other cases all over Central Europe.

The money saved thru years of hard toil has vanished, as if bewitched. Where has it gone? Some of it represented values destroyed by the war. Savings banks and insurance companies alike kept their books in excellent order. There were the long rows of figures, properly written up, properly calculated. These figures showed your savings, your life insurance, your annuities, your sick and accident benefits as bargained for and agreed upon.

Alas, they represented only figures, not substance. How much of the substance that has vanished went into the pockets of profiteers and speculators will never be determined.

Such is the tragedy of thrift. And its victims are the silent legions.

Mr. Lansing Explains Haiti

FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE LANSING in his letter to Senator McCormick explains intervention in Haiti and American rule of this little nation. He calls attention to the decades of disorder in Haiti, and asserts that the bulk of the population "had been downtrodden by dictators."

It was for the purpose of enabling the Haitian people to enjoy "prosperity and an economic and industrial development to which every people of an American nation are entitled" that the native government was strangled. Besides, "there was good reason for believing" that the Germans were intent on taking over Haiti in 1913-1914.

But American intervention took place in 1915, one year after the Germans were involved in the world war. Any aggression that Germany may have had in mind was out of the question when American forces overthrew the Haitian Republic.

It is true that dictators have dominated in many of these Latin-American nations, but this has been a chronic feature of their political history for at least 100 years. The American press used to refer to the upheavals in these countries as "topnotch revolutions." Down to the twentieth century there was no hint that American police power should intervene in any of these nations for the purpose of emancipating the "downtrodden."

This holy mission of American power never dawned upon its advocates until our imperialists had considerable finance and capital available for export to these countries. Then they took an interest in the "downtrodden." So great has their interest in Haiti become that they have wiped out the native government and the mailed fist of American power has ranged the whole population in protest against the alien masters.

That this brutal aggression against Haiti was something that Wilson and Lansing did not care to expose to publicity is evident from the fact that the job was pulled off behind a barrier of censorship. Although we heard plenty about the "German menace" in the years following the assault upon Haiti, there was nothing said about German designs upon this little nation. It appears that this is an afterthought of Lansing. At any rate we are certain that had the old German imperialism grabbed Haiti it could not have exceeded the regime which American "democracy" has established in behalf of the "downtrodden."

New York Day-By-Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 11—Back in the days when Chinatown flaunted more heels than Swedenborg dreamed of, Dave Doyle ran a ginmill in Mott Street. It was a sawdust joint where yeggs drank liquor raw and gape-wagon tourists shuddered. Dawn usually found a battered figure sprawling in the adjoining alley.

Dave ruled his place by brawn. "Hit 'em first and talk afterward" was his motto. He stood at one end of his bar in checkered clothes and brown derby and jaws shaved to a siren's red clamped a black cigar. He was reminded of an angry bull ready to charge.

Into his place one night came a creature of the streets, roughly reared and buoyantly bunned. Her hair was askew and her clothes in a disorderly array. Women were not unusual visitors. White wives of Chinese came there for pitchers of beer.

This woman pitched unsteadily toward the bar and sank her head in her arms. After a time she ordered a drink. And then another and still another. Finally Doyle removed the cigar and out of the corner of his mouth said to the bartender: "No more."

The woman looked up, leered at him and hiccupped a guttural phrase. Going out she stumbled thru the swing doors and fell to the side walk and was carried away in an ambulance later. Dave Doyle rode with her to the hospital. Three days later his ginmill changed hands. And Doyle disappeared from Chinatown.

A sordid setting for romance. Yet the other day there came to two old friends of Doyle's in Chinatown postcard cards postmarked Ireland. On the reverse side was a country cottage. In the yard stood Dave a hoe in hand. On the porch sat a woman and in her lap was a smiling child. And the inscription in Dave's handwriting read: "From hell to heaven."

An iron-worker on a downtown skyscraper walked nonchalantly out to the end of a slim beam at the 29th floor the other day at noon and looked at the anti-like flurry of life in the street. After a time he turned about and one foot slipped and for a second or so he wavered unsteadily. Across the street on the fourth floor of an office building a stenographer slipped to the floor in a dead faint. She had been watching him thru a pair of field glasses.

The high-priced tailors have found a new way of increasing the price of their clothes. A new style afternoon suit consists of a double-breasted coat and trousers striped with gray. The coat is braided and the braiding is $40 extra.

He removes superfluous hairs from the faces of aging dowagers. His fee is $20 an hour and he occupies the entire floor of a building and works from 8 in the morning until 8 at night. Nearly every night he has a party—his guests being mostly chorus girls from current musical plays. "I get so tired of whining old age" he told a friend "that to keep going I must devote my evenings to youth."

One of the silversmiths announces a 25 per cent increase in the price of silver cocktail shakers. And over in Jersey City a glass factory has been started which will devote its entire organization to the making of cocktail glasses.

THE WICKED WORLD

I look upon the jazzy crowd, and cry, "Oh, hully chee! Old fashioned virtue's in its shroud, as dead as it can be; this riot shouldn't be allowed—it looks too coarse to me." I wonder if I rant and scold without a good excuse? Is it because I'm gray and old I turn the language loose? Is it because I'm filmed with mold, my veins devoid of juice? The youngsters do not seem to dread the evils I foretell; they scoot around with sprightly tread, the springald and the belle, inviting me to soak my head when I would mourn and yell. "Oh, gaffer, you've been on the earth too many years," they cry; "you can't distinguish sterling from Johnson's whiskers dye; and you would queer the young folks' mirth with your despairing cry. Because some changes have been sprung in human walks and ways, since those dead times when you were young, you talk of pipe-dream days, and from an old and battered lung send forth unseemly brays. Go to, old man, you've had your fling, the youngsters own the land; new generations rise like spring when winter has been canned; and if you cannot smile and sing, you might be pounding sand." In an old and wintry man, with furrows on my brow; my teeth are gone and I eat bran, much like a horse or cow; and is this why I dourly scan the way the world goes now?

FRATERNAL LEAGUE BEGINS ITS SEASON WITH PARADE MON.

Mayor W. S. Tish and the city councilmen will head the Fraternal league parade Monday evening, May 15, in which every lodge in this city that has a baseball team in the League will participate.

The paraders will meet at the court square Monday evening, where they will assemble for the march. A special band has been obtained for this occasion.

The paraders will march to the Red Sea park, where the opening contest will be played between the Elks and Eagles. Mayor Tish will pitch the first ball at the diamond, marking the opening of the league's season. The committee in charge of the parade is expecting over 1,000 people in the demonstration.

In June the teams will have to condense their squads to 15 men. At present they can have as many as they want. Each team will have baseball uniforms. A mixed dance will be held this evening by the K. of P. baseball club to raise money for the purpose of purchasing uniforms for the team. It will be held in the K. of P. hall.

Each manager is to turn his list of players in to the league head by Saturday. The players must be eligible to play and not "ringers." All players must be members of the lodges.

A staff of umpires will be selected to take charge of each game. Probably a different set of umpires will take the field at each game.

A collection will be taken at each game for the purpose of defraying the expenses. New balls must be purchased for each game.

Here are the teams comprising the Fraternal League:
Eagles, Elks, Moose, Knights of Elias, Knights of Columbus, and Red Men. The first week's schedule is: Monday, Elks vs. Eagles; Tuesday, K. of P.'s vs. Eagles; Thursday, K. of C.'s vs. Moose.

Bancroft Team Wins

The heavy hitting of William Ames of Bancroft yesterday afternoon, enabled his school to trample Lincoln beneath their feet in the second game of the Grammar School Baseball League to the merry tune of 14-2. The Bancroft sluggers drove R. Eddy from the mound during the fourth inning.

Several of the Sycamore players were on hand to give the Bancroft team the once over. Sycamore and Bancroft are scheduled to meet on Monday afternoon and keen interest is being aroused by the followers of these two schools.

WOMAN'S COMPLEX LIFE

Woman's complex life with its multitudinous calls is given as the reason for many a nervous breakdown. Home work, social obligations, dressmaking and the care of children keep the 20th century woman in a whirlwind of activity until headaches develop, backache, nervousness and sometimes more serious ills which are peculiar to her sex alone. Such women should not despair, but be guided by the letters so often published in this paper from women who have been in just such conditions, but who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This is a root and herb medicine that contains no drugs and can be taken in safety by any woman.

FREE TO MOTHERS

We are going to give a Trial Box of Sykes Comfort Powder Free to a limited number of mothers of infants and children in this town. We are doing this in order that they may have a chance to test it, see the amazing results from its use, and prove for themselves the vast difference between this wonderful Skin Healing Toilet Powder and ordinary talcum powders.

Sykes Comfort powder has been used and recommended by physicians, trained nurses and mothers of New England and New York State for more than 30 years for use after baby's bath in the nursery and sick room.

The reason it is so far superior to ordinary talcum powders is because it contains healing, soothing, antiseptic and disinfecting ingredients not contained in any other powder. WE GUARANTEE Sykes Comfort Powder will heal and prevent Chafing, Scalding, Rashes, Inflammation, Irritation, Skin Eruptions and Soreness of infants, children and adults.

DEMPSEY WILL FIGHT CARPENTIER AGAIN; BIG PURSE OFFERED

LONDON, May 12.—Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey, announced this afternoon that he had reached an agreement with Francois Desamps, manager of Georges Carpentier for a return fight, to be fought in Europe on a date not yet fixed but to be before June, 1923.

Douglas Stuart, wealthy turfman today offered a purse of 75,000 lbs. sterling (normally about $265,000) for a match between Dempsey and Carpentier in London in September.

Dempsey and Kearns conferred at length today over the advisability of making a match for Dempsey to meet Carpentier in Europe sometime next autumn. Both Dempsey and Kearns say that Carpentier looked better when he knocked out Ted "Kid" Lewis last night than he did when defeated by Dempsey in Jersey City last year.

RUMORS ABOUT HER ALL LIES, SAYS PEGGY ON ARRIVAL IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 12.—"Lies—all damned lies."

With arms flung aloft, tears of rage and mortification glistening in her eyes and as one small foot stamped in anger, Peggy Hopkins Joyce, noted as the modern Cleopatra, denied stories of heart breaking, home wrecking, and wild parties in Paris on her arrival here today on the liner Mauretania.

It was a serious minded, sober, and chastened Peggy that came back home from gay Paris. She brot with her more than $1,000,000 worth of gowns and jewels. She said she was going at once to Norfolk, Va., to visit and comfort her mother.

"Oh I know what you are going to ask me," she said when approached by reporters. It was then she announced her vigorous denial.

Vice District Raided

DAYTON, May 12.—Following a raid in the Haymarket vice district by the sheriff, it was announced today that efforts will be made to close it, starting May 18. It is proposed to wipe out the district by court injunction. Church organizations are behind the movement.

THOROGBRED DERBY DRAWS THOUSANDS TO LOUISVILLE, KY.

LOUISVILLE, May 12.—Kentuckians and an ever swelling host of visitors worshiped today at the shrine of the thorbred race horse.

The forty-eighth renewal of the Kentucky Derby at historic Churchill Downs tomorrow will witness the most brilliant spectacle of the American turf and the greatest crowd that ever saw the famous race, according to every indication today.

The docile and mighty Morvich munches his hay and oats and frets not at all over the great throngs of visitors. The great colt is expected by his owner and trainer to break the track record of 2:03 1-5 and may equal the American record 2:00 held by Harry Payne Whitney's Whisk Broom II.

Startle is expected to go to the post in the dash for the highest honors in American racing circles.

Busy American, who was the hope of Kentucky in the race, probably will not start because of a bowed tendon.

E. R. Bradley, owner of Busy American will be represented by Bet Moss and By Gosh with a chance that Banker Brown will go to the post also, wearing the Bradley colors.

The probable Derby field and likely odds follow:

Morvich, weight 126; Jockey, A. Johnson; odds, even.
Deadlock, weight 126; Jockey, J. H. Mooney; odds, six to one.

My Play, weight 126; Jockey C. Robinson; odds six to one.

A X-Busy American, weight 126; Jockey N. Barrett; odds ten to one.

A-Bet Moss, weight 126; Jockey F. Barnes; odds ten to one.

A-By Gosh, weight 126; odds ten to one.

Startle, weight 121; Jockey B. Connolly; odds ten to one.

Surf Rider, weight 126; Jockey E. Pool; odds twenty to one.

Letterman, weight 126; Jockey B. Kennedy; odds twenty to one.

John Finn, weight 126; Jockey H. Lunsford; odds twenty-five to 1.

RULES ADOPTED LAST NIGHT BY THE INTER S. S. BASEBALL LEAGUE

As a result of a meeting of the Inter-Sunday School baseball league in this county, held Thursday night, four church teams have already berthe in the league. They are the Presbyterians, Grace M. E.'s, M. P.'s and the Roscoe M. E.'s.

Other church teams are expected to become members of the league before the next meeting night, which is on Thursday, May 1. The organization will be perfected at the next meeting.

The schedule will be made out at the next meeting. The first league game will be played on June 1. All games will be played on Thursdays and Fridays of each week.

Following are the rules and regulations that have been adopted, governing the Inter-Church League.

STICK TO SENRECO AND YOUR TEETH WILL STICK TO YOU

Have White, Radiant Teeth That Will Compel Unstinted Admiration

Don't neglect your gums whatever else you do or you'll be sorry later on. Keep them strong, sturdy and full of life. Bear in mind that a hearty plant won't grow in foul soil. Neither will unhealthy gums produce good teeth.

Your dentist is one of your best friends—don't forget that—see him of ten—many thousands of men and women are enjoying health today because of the dentists' knowledge and skill.

You can have white teeth so radiantly clean and fascinating and so free from film or coating that they will compel unstinted admiration. You can have firm, healthy gums with no taint of disease if you will only visit your dentist occasionally and use Senreco toothpaste night and morning.

Senreco is a dentist's formula, a combination so perfect that, besides being the finest cleanser of teeth and the most enjoyable of dentifrices, is an active enemy of the vicious germs of pyorrhea—that all too common and abhorrent disease that attacks the gums and causes them to bleed, recede and grow soft, tender and spongy.

Get a tube of Senreco today—the good results will astonish you—in just a few days your teeth will radiate purity. Stick to Senreco and your teeth will stick to you.

Will Your Varnished Floors Stand the "Romp Test?"

SOME varnishes crack, scratch and go all to pieces under roller skates and kiddie kars. A few are made to stand unbelievably rough treatment—and they really do it.

Among the latter is Lowe Brothers Durable Floor Varnish. It dries hard, yet is so elastic that it will not scratch or mar white. You can scuff along it—the wood may dent but the varnish won't crack.

Water, boiling hot or freezing cold, will not affect it in any way. Is easy to apply. Gives floors a beautiful rich, deep gloss—not a cheap, shiny finish. Can be rubbed to a flat finish if desired. Has great lastingness.

Durable Floor Varnish is excellent also for fishing poles, golf clubs, and tennis racquets.

Come in and see the sample panel and ask for literature.

Your health depends upon the food you eat

MOST food is in good condition when delivered to the housewife. The meat, milk, eggs and butter have come directly from cold storage. How cold she keeps it in the house is the big question. An ice box is indispensable; you cannot keep food safely in the cellar or outdoors. The air is too impure and even in early Spring it is too changeable; mild days follow cold ones and start decay in perishable food. A steady, dry cold is necessary.

When food gets stale

it not only loses its appetizing flavor; it loses in nourishment, long before it tastes badly enough to throw away.

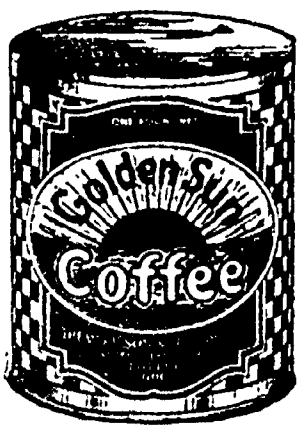

Guard the health of your family—especially of your young children—by taking ice regularly the year round.

5,000 physicians.

This is Crippled Children's Week. Observance of this fact is being made throughout the state under direction of the Ohio Crippled Children's Association, comprising members of Rotary Clubs. Speakers are urging that adequate medical, surgical, hospital and educational facilities be accorded the estimated 15,000 crippled children in the Buckeye state. Clinics for the treatment of crippled children are being held in various sections of the state. Special educational classes for crippled children have been formed in most of the large cities.

NELSONVILLE, May 12.—By order of the common pleas court, the $55,000 balance remaining in the Athens county war chest goes to the American Legion of Athens county for a "centrally-located headquarters and memorial building of the great war." But the issue is not settled yet. There are four Legion posts in the county. All planned to divide the money, if they got it. The court ordered that the building must be erected within five years.

LOGAN, May 12.—In 1830, payment of 70 cents each day to grand jurors was considered sufficient, according to old records found during the dismantling of the courthouse here. It is pointed out that the value of cash then differed but slightly from today's valuation.

ATHENS, May 12.—Everything is "set" for the opening of the gigantic campaign designed to raise $300,000 with which to build an Ohio University Alumni Memorial Building here. Every former student and graduate will be solicited. The local townspeople are expected to raise almost 25 per cent of the total amount needed. The structure, which will serve as an auditorium, is needed to care for the 1500 students of the university. The present auditorium will scarcely care for half of the student body at one time.

RUTLAND, May 12.—George W. Humphrey, 76, who recently died here, had many interesting and exciting experiences in his Civil war service. He enlisted and served four years with a West Virginia cavalry outfit and engaged in scores of bitter battles and hot scouting encounters. He was at the finish of Sheridan's ride, witnessed the surrender of General Lee at Appomattox and took part in the grand review in Washington.

MARTINS FERRY, May 12.—Of the 26,073,600 acres of land in Ohio, only 8,197,204 are drained, according to federal government officials. These figures are based on 1920 census figures. The total amount of capital involved in the state's drainage systems is $26,771,620. Darke county, famous for its corn yield, leads the state with 250,250 acres drained. It is on the western border of the state. Jefferson county, on the eastern border, has the smallest number of drained acres, 355. The drainage report shows that it is necessary to use pumps to remove the water from only 1,755 acres of Ohio land. All such acreage is in Lucas and Ottawa counties.

CADIZ, May 12.—Speaker Rupert R. Beetham, of the Ohio house of representatives, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, is scheduled to deliver 17 addresses—all non-political—within the next three weeks. His itinerary includes: Defiance, May 16; Dayton, May 23, and Middletown, June 1.

YORKVILLE, May 12.—Carmello Venka, local Italian, was shot four times, robbed of $50 and a watch when he resisted two holdup men near Wheeling, W. Va. Seriously wounded, he staggered to a country store, operated by James Hall and son, who sent Venka to a Wheeling hospital. Later, the Halls were taken to the same hospital. Their truck overturned a few hours after they aided the wounded man. The father's spine was injured and the boy's leg was broken.

BELLAIRE, May 12.—Helping clean up tracks, John Benedict, a straw boss, was crushed to death between cars in the Rail and River No. 3 mine at Big Run. His is the first fatality in Eastern Ohio mines since the union miners suspended work on April first, last, but is the fifth at that mine this year. His body was taken to West Newton, Pa., for burial.

ELYRIA, May 12.—The second annual Lorain County rural school picnic will be held here today. It will be featured by a parade of several thousand school children. Twenty-five car sponsors are to appear in the parade.

ASHLAND, May 12.—Superintendent John A. McDowell of the Ashland schools, president of the North-east Ohio Teachers' Association, has been re-elected president of the Kent state normal school's board of trustees.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS FOR BLADDER ILLS

Dayton Man Reports Relief With Simple Remedy After Getting Up 15 or 20 Times Each Night for Two Years.

Mr. Julius Mayer, 1120 East Fifth St., says in his own home paper, the Dayton News: "For two years my bladder caused me to get up many times at night and too frequent in the day. After taking a few doses of Lithiated Buchu, my bladder works perfectly normal and I can sleep all night."

Lithiated Buchu acts on the kidneys and bladder. As Epsom Salts do on the bowels, you will be surprised at the improvement which comes from the bladder after taking a few doses of Lithiated Buchu. It is not a patent medicine as the formula is on the package. The tablets cost 2c each. This price makes it possible to place in the formula several high priced drugs, which are useful to give relief. It is not likely that you have ever taken a remedy similar to this. Try a few doses for backache, scalding, scanty or thick colored urine and frequent desire at night.

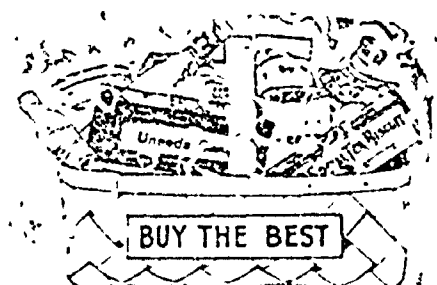

You can see the formula and learn more about Lithiated Buchu at Smith's Drug & Book Store, J. M. Robertson, Wimmer-Arroll Co., and drug stores everywhere, or write The Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio.

NO AGREEMENT IS REACHED ON OIL RIGHTS IN RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, May 12. — Although negotiations are progressing satisfactorily between the United States and Great Britain in regard to development of the oil fields in the near east, no general agreement has been reached as reported in apparently official London dispatches. It was said at state department today. Arrangements are already made for the protection of the interests of American oil in Palestine (British mandatory) but no agreements affect Iraq, Mesopotamia or other fields outside of Russia are mentioned.

To Revise Customs Laws

WASHINGTON, May 12. — The appointment of a committee to revise the customs regulations of 1915 was announced at the treasury department yesterday. The committee will be composed of Mark P. Members of the Kiwanis club were gracious hosts, Thursday evening, when they entertained their wives with a dinner party, at 6:30 o'clock, in the Park hotel.

Miss Margaret Tubbs, of Columbus, schoolmate of Miss Elsie McKinley, appeared in a number of solo dances and vocal numbers, thoroughly pleasing her audience. Members in the Muskingum College Glee Club Quartet were heard to a good advantage when they presented the "Hunting Chorus," from "Robinhood," arranged by De-Koven. Individual and impromptu stunts, given by the various Kiwanis members, proved to be decidedly entertaining and amusing.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing, music being presented by a local orchestra.

The affair marked the monthly entertainment, or ladies night, given for the pleasure of the women.

One of the most pleasing social functions of the week was the lovely reception and tea given Thursday afternoon, at the Young Woman's Christian Association rooms, for the members of the Girl Reserves club and their mothers. Quantities of Hawthorne, dogwood, and aspies, together with vases of flags and lilies, were grouped thruout the rooms for the occasion. Prettily shaded lights and softly lighted candles cast their soft glow over the whole.

Members of the Girls Work Committee were hostesses at the affair which was enjoyed by more than 100 mothers and daughters. Between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock, Mrs. Warner Pomerone, Miss Clyde Woodard, Miss Margaret Huff, Louise Schaeffer and Miss Naomi Wilson received the guests.

Dainty refreshments, consisting of ices, cakes and coffee were served by the hostesses and their assistants. Mrs. S. W. Rosenberger and Miss Ruth Parrish presided over the refreshment table, while Miss Edna Mohler poured. Small bouquets of sweet peas were given to the mothers for favors.

Thruout the afternoon, beautiful musical selections were given by Miss Margaret Robson, at the piano, interspersed with violin numbers by Miss Helen Rosenberger.

THE WAY JOHNNY SEAL WON HIS NEW FUR COAT.

MAMA SEAL had so many little babies she just didn't have time to teach them. The things every little sea baby should know. So the little ones wandered over the ice day and night just amusing themselves. Johnny Seal, who was the oldest of the family, didn't care to watch over the younger brothers and sisters. He spent most of his time watching the middle-aged seals.

When it came time for the first crowd of seals to leave the nesting field, and Johnny Seal saw them in their lovely new fur coats, he hurried home to his mama and demanded a fur coat just like those he had seen.

"There will be no new coat until you learn to swim," said Mama Seal. "That is one thing every good little seal must learn to do perfectly. When you learn to do that, come to me and then you may have a new fur coat."

Johnny Seal pouted and whined, but at last he started off toward the water. As queer as it may seem, though seals have a new coat, when they are in the water, they all have to learn how to swim. As he reached the edge of the water Johnny Seal closed his eyes and slid over the side of the cake of ice on which he sat.

At first he hardly knew whether to laugh or cry. The water almost took his breath away, but gathering up courage—and thinking of the lovely new fur coat he had been promised—Johnny Seal not only learned how to swim, but he taught his brothers and sisters. Then, when Johnny Seal put on his lovely new fur coat his sisters and brothers each had a new coat also. It was a merry band that played in the waters along the shore.

"Now, these little grayish-brown fur coats are your sea-going coats," said Mama Seal. "You see, under the rough grayish-brown outside is a lovely soft brown lining. It is made of soft hair about half an inch thick, and will keep you good and warm." And kissing her children good-by, Mama Seal swam away with all the other mothers on the place, for the daddies of the colony had been gone some time.

After they were out of sight all the youngsters scuttled on the ice and swam away in search of new homes.

Indeed, it wasn't until each had proved his or her ability to take care of himself or herself that the baby seals saw their fathers or mothers again. And even then they hardly could recognize them.

But, nevertheless, Johnny Seal was very proud of his new fur coat. He was very glad, indeed, that he had earned that coat by learning to swim, for all his life he depended—indeed, his very life depended upon his ability to swim through the water in which he now spent most of his days.

Goes Farther

A can of Calumet Baking Powder will make more pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins, etc. than a can of most other brands.

It lasts longer—goes farther because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength—therefore you use less.

When a recipe calls for two teaspoons of baking powder, use two level teaspoons of Calumet, the results will always be the same—perfectly raised bakings—remember this when you buy baking powder and don't forget that Calumet is the economic buy because it goes farther.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

MRS. HARDING'S NOTE TO INJURED LAD MAY LEAD TO RECOVERY

CINCINNATI, May 12.—Last Monday physicians of the St. Mary's hospital here desisted of saving the life of red haired, freckle faced Wilbur Morgan, 14 years old, member of the boys' band of Manchester, Ohio, who received a badly sprained back and internal injuries when he was caught beneath the deck which collapsed on the steamer Island Queen which escorted President Harding to the Grant Centennial Celebration at Point Pleasant, Ohio, April 23.

Depressed and alone, the boy lay helpless in his plaster cast apparently having no desire to recover. He would not talk, but cried frequently. Thursday Wilbur received a letter. It read:

"Master Wilbur Morgan, St. Mary's hospital, Cincinnati, Ohio.
"My Dear Wilbur:

"I want you to know how very much interested I was in the Manchester boys' band and I regretted very much not being able to hear it.

"I hope your injury is not as serious as was feared and as sure you of the great distress the president and I have felt that you and the boys who had come to give us such a splendid welcome should have met with such a distressing accident.

"With the sincerest hope that you are not in great pain and that you may be restored to health.

"Sincerely,
"Florence Kling Harding."

Friday morning Wilbur would not permit a single nurse, attendant or fellow patient to pass his bed without reading the letter. He chatted gayly, strummed a tune on his cloak of plaster with the white house envelope and hummed an accompaniment as hospital attendants gathered around to congratulate him.

Physicians now believe that the return of Wilbur's interest in living will bring about his complete recovery. He has now appointed an advisory committee of nurses who are to help him frame a reply to the first lady of the land.

GYPSY'S THREATS DUE TO POISONING, SAYS CAMBRIDGE CORONER

John Western, a gypsy and former leader of a band of gypsies who camped several months ago in the forks between Coshocton and Roscoe, has been declared not permanently insane by Coroner Bates, of Cambridge.

Western created a disturbance at the Central school in Cambridge Monday evening, which led the Cambridge authorities to believe he was insane. An examination was made by Coroner Bates and his verdict was announced Thursday afternoon.

Coroner Bates pointed out in his verdict that Western was temporarily insane, probably due to poisoning.

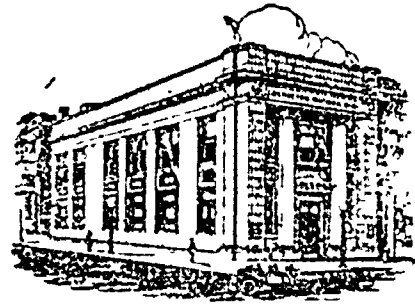

The man says he is greatly humiliated by his actions and offered apologies to the people he threatened to molest.

Miss Jennings won first honors with a beautiful living room pattern. Master Easton drew a bed room design and the Slater lad drew a kitchen pattern.

The contest was held four weeks ago, and the papers with the various wall paper designs were sent to R. C. Dancer, of Wheeling, W. Va., who looked over the drawings and named the winners.

Last year all the prizes were won by eighth grade pupils. This time, two out of the three were won by seventh grade pupils.

Much credit is due Miss Chaney and the teachers for the success of the pupils in the contest.

LACKAWANNA MERGER WITH BETHLEHEM CO. CAUSES SHARP RISE

NEW YORK, May 12.—The stock of the Lackawanna Steel Co. leaped from $65 per share to $75 on the exchange early today while Wall Street excitedly discussed the bombshell announcement of the merger of that great concern with the Bethlehem Steel Co., the young giant constructed thru the efforts of Charles M. Schwab, following his retirement from the U. S. Steel corporation 19 years ago.

It is seldom that Wall Street is called upon to absorb such important news as that of this merger without advance rumors and the market was rather sensationally influenced.

Lackawanna had been supposed to be one of the prime movers in a merger of seven independent steel corporations.

George F. Downs, president of the company, accompanied by other officials of the different companies made a round of inspection last week of the different companies mentioned.

In some quarters it is claimed the absorption of the Lackawanna Co. by the Schwab interests would have an unfavorable effect on the proposed general independent merger. Thomas L. Chadbourne, organizer of the move, was emphatic in his statement that the withdrawal of the Lackawanna would in no way effect the merger of the other companies, which would now be on a six company basis.

PENNSYLVANIA COAL MINE DYNAMITED; FEAR MORE VIOLENCE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 12.—The drift mine of J. H. Peterson at North Bessemer, 12 miles from here, was dynamited and badly wrecked early today, according to reports received at the sheriff's office. The report said that a band of 75 or 100 men had marched on the mine shortly after dawn and placed a very large charge of explosives in the workings. According to word received by Sheriff Robert Woodside, the marching miners were roaming about countryside and threatening to dynamite other mines. Two auto loads of deputies have been rushed to overtake the marchers and disperse them. The Peterman mine has been down since the strike began. No one was injured by the explosion, first reports said.

When persons in North Braddock learned the Peterman mines had been blown up, they feared to return to their homes because of the belief that many more of the surrounding mines might be blown up. The miners were still in the vicinity of North Bessemer and in a defiant mood early this morning.

AT THE MYSTIC

Miracles of the Jungle

"Miracles of the Jungle," said by The Exhibitors' Herald and other film magazines to be one of the best wild animal series produced, has been booked for Coshocton and starting Monday, May 15, will run for two weeks at the Mystic theater.

The story is in 15 parts, the opening chapters being "The City of Lions," "The Passage of Death" and "The Jungle Attack," which will be shown the first week. Manager Russell has been negotiating for several weeks with the owners to get this wonderful animal picture for the Mystic, and announcement of contracts being signed assures Coshocton theatergoers a chance to see this unusual aerial while it is new.

The Motion Picture News says of the film that "the very opening shot shows a ruined city in Africa, with a score of lions supporting the ancient pillars," and then goes on to describe one of the thrilling incidents which shows a "close-up" of a lion hugging a man and clawing at his breast.

It is planned to run two or three complete chapters of the story each week, changing the bill as often as required to follow out this plan, and it will start on Monday, May 15, running throughout two weeks, with continuous performances from 6:30 to 11 p. m. with the usual matinees. ### MUSKINGUM GLEE CLUB ENTERTAINS DELIGHTED HOUSE

A treat was afforded Coshocton music lovers, Thursday evening, when the Muskingum College Glee club appeared in a recital at the First Presbyterian church.

The club, comprising 35 male voices, made a profound impression upon its audience, displaying exceptional artistic gifts in the presentation of a finely balanced program.

Among the vocal numbers given by the club which appealed most strongly to its hearers were Tosti's "Goodbye," "Ole Uncle Moon," by Scott and a Medley arranged by Nevin, "Happy Songs of Long Ago." As an encore to the first group, they sang a popular college song, "Nut Brown Maiden."

Howard Ralston, organist and pianist of splendid interpretative ability, played a difficult selection, March Op. 39, from Hollander.

Clark Pollock, versatile reader of charm, immediately won his audience with his reading of "Fleur-de-lis," taken from Robert W. Service's "Rhymns of a Red Cross Man." The closing number of the first part of the program was the singing of "Worship God in Nature," by the club, from Beethoven, with Mr. Ralston accompanying on the pipe organ.

The "Hunting Song" from "Robin Hood," by De Koven, was ably given by the College Double Quartet, in the opening of the second part. James Fitzwater followed in a couple of vocal selections which were well adapted to his clear baritone voice.

James Moore appeared to a good advantage in his violin selection which preceded another group of songs by the club. Clark Pollock read again for his audience, using two Italian readings, "Da Rece," and "Between Two Loves," composed by Tom Daly. One of the most pleasing numbers on the entire program was the vocal number, "Nita Gitana," by DeKoven, sung by Ray Davis. Mr. Davis possesses a splendid tenor voice and was heartily applauded.

The closing numbers, "Should Old Acquaintance Be Forgotten," and "Muskingum Songs," were presented by the entire club.

The club was brot to this city under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church.

Pageants.

In the pageant of the arts and sciences the local historian does not figure brightly. He is tolerated only as a poor relation of the mighty scholars who chronicle the deeds of parliaments and armies, for it seems clear that since the whole is greater than the part he who writes of one small section cannot be as great as one who writes of nations and the world.—Dix-on Ryan Fox.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS
Adele Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

How Mother Graham "Took It Out" on Madge.

THE scene which confronted me in my mother-in-law's room was one which tugged with equal strength at my sense of the ludicrous and of the pathetic.

Mother Graham's tone and manner were as haughty and majestic as if she were clad in a silken gown and surmounted the universe through her surmounting. But it is hard to be convincingly dignified in a flannel nightgown and red yarn slippers, with two wisps of gray hair braided down one's back, and I would have found it hard to control my risibles had it not been for the contrasting picture at Junior's crib.

Marion, slender, exquisite, in her dainty pink pajamas, with her golden-glittered hair ruffled in her sleep, but with wide, terrified eyes staring from her white face, was holding Junior tightly in her arms, and had effectually quieted his yells, which had been half-angry, half-frightened. But the little girl was shivering with fright as well as cold, and I crossed quickly to her, ignoring for the moment my mother-in-law's trade, which I know from experience had but just begun, and would gain in volume and strength as it continued.

"Mother?" The child's white lips framed the question tensely.

"Mother is all right. She will be here in a minute, dear," I said softly. Then, in a louder tone, I repeated the explanation Lillian had instructed me to give concerning our supposed alarm at chicken thieves.

Lillian intervenes.

"Chicken thieves! Fiddlesticks!" my mother-in-law ejaculated scornfully. "Margaret, you never have looked me for an instant since you married Richmond!" her tone spoke of years of attempted deceit upon my part—"and you needn't think you are going to begin now. You haven't any pistol—I justly visioned my little revolver looked in my trunk—and you needn't tell me that a sane woman like Mrs. Underwood is shooting out of the window at chicken thieves. That's like the performances of those animals across the road. When they don't know anything else to do, they shoot off a gun. You'll have to think up a better story than that. But that isn't what I want to know from you. How dare you turn the key on me, locking me in my child as though I were some spoiled child? How dare you?"

She almost choked upon the words, so angry was she, and I dallied mentally with the retort that she was but a spoiled child, and that if I could only add a spanking to the key-turning it might have a salutary effect. Needless to say, however, I did not utter my

THIS afternoon I went to Sherry's for tea with Rita Blair, who has just returned from a trip abroad. She was late, of course, so I had time to survey the scene while waiting for her. Then I saw a perfectly-stunning figure come in the door, and a second glance assured me it was Rita. "How beautiful you are!" I exclaimed in sheer admiration. "Oh, I'm glad you like me," she answered with a pleased smile. "I like you better than ever, and I don't know whether it's the French clothes or the change in atmosphere

YOUR HEALTH
Why the Ozone of the Pines or Other Fresh Air Is Vital

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City

DR. COPELAND

A FEW days ago a prominent editor wrote me as follows:

"We of the Southern country lay great stress upon the value of the ozone of the pines. We have much faith in the healing qualities and general healthfulness to be found in the vicinity of these trees."

I applaud these views, and often during the long, cold winter through which we just passed, I longed for just such a place.

Fortunately, good health does not depend on latitude or longitude, or altitude or season. If you practice right living, deep breathing, proper eating and plenty of out-of-door life you may enjoy perfect health in the South, in Canada, on the western plains or in the great cities.

There can be no doubt, however, that the balmy air of the Southland, impregnated with the ozone of the pines, is particularly conducive to continued good health and to the restoration of vigor to those who have suffered illness.

Pines prefer a sandy soil. Sandy soil means good drainage and dress of the earth's surface. Such a spot is certain to be desirable as a place of residence.

The pines exude a balsam which possesses certain medicinal virtues. Therefore with the sandy soil and the perfume of the pines we have a most desirable combination of favorable elements.

The majority of people cannot migrate with the birds. If they could they would give themselves the joy of the Southland places in winter and the Canadian spruces in summer. The lovely and invigorating Pacific coast would take them part of the time, but on occasions the call of the city would be irresistible. How strange is the yearning heart of man!

The open spaces of the world are endowed by Nature with certain native qualities which make for good health. To make himself equally safe in the more crowded region man must raise sanitary barriers and be on the outlook for infecting agents, the enemies of the human family.

A scientist contrasted the air of London with the air of the Highlands of Scotland. If my memory serves me correctly he found forty times as much material contamination in the London air. Of necessity there must be more physical irritation from the contaminated atmosphere. Consequently, the way is prepared for germ invasion.

About one-fourth of all the deaths in America come from the respiratory diseases—pneumonia, bronchitis, tuberculosis, etc. There can be no doubt that the ozone-laden air of the pines indicates a place where the chance for respiratory infection must be materially lessened, and in cases of illness, the prospect of recovery must be increased.

The majority of my readers live in cities, and many of them are too poor to have the slightest hope of breathing the sweet air of the Southland. Let me ask them:

How often do you get into one of the beautiful parks of your city? These parks have been provided to take the place of remote and inaccessible forests. You play in them, you stroll, and to your family to make use of the walks and rambles in the parks. Spend at least a few hours each week in the out-of-doors.

When everybody in this world spends two hours every day in the open air, the span of life of the human race will be materially increased. If you can do this in the ozone of the pines you are lucky, but you are lucky, too, to spend them in the open air matter where.

Answers to Health Questions

W. E. L. Q—I am 22 years of age, and I am suffering from severe pains in my back, particularly the lower part. Kindly tell me what causes this.

A—Your pains may be due to rheumatism. You should have your teeth and gums, tonsils and nasal sinuses examined. Make sure that the kidneys and bowels are eliminating properly. Correct any disorder of the digestive tract, and these organs are in good condition and functioning properly, the pains will disappear.

E. E. E. Q—Will you please tell me if there is any cure for knock-knee? I am 20 years old.

A—At your age it is hard to cure this condition. I would suggest that you join some athletic club or Y. W. C. A., as properly-directed exercises may help you.

R. L. Q—I am 22 years of age, and my hair is turning gray. What would you recommend me to use to restore it to its natural color?

A—There is nothing you can use to stop the hair from turning gray.

M. B. Q—For the past six months my mother has complained of a metallic, platy taste in her mouth. Will you please tell me whether this trouble is due to a nose condition or to the fact that her stomach is out of order?

A—It is difficult for me to say to what

HOME-MAKING HELPS
By WANDA BAXTON

What System May Mean to the Busy Home-Maker.

MANY women who do their own housework do it with little or no idea of system, and then wonder that they have so little free time. This fact is not due to overwork, and does not call for a generous amount of self pity, but it does call for the use of the little more plan matter in working out the problem.

One woman writes me that she "works from 6 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock at night, but is never done," this with a small, simply-furnished house, and only a husband and two children to look after. There is something radically wrong here, probably a lack of method, and it is small wonder that she is worn out and discouraged. We call a medical man for our physical ills. Why not call a household engineer to help master defective housework methods?

Though every family has individual problems of its own, the main labor of running a house is much the same in the average household, depending, of course, on meal hours, school hours, and the needs of the family must get away for his day's work.

To begin with, a modest home where the woman must do the work, should be put on a co-operative basis. Rising at 6 or half-past, husband should go down stairs and start the fire, while wife dresses herself and the children. Then while she gets breakfast, husband may finish his toilet. After breakfast, husband is off to business, and the children's homework should be tackled, and then they are off to school and wife is ready for her work.

First, she should run upstairs and throw open the beds and open the windows, bringing down anything that needs to be done. Next, clear the table, putting away the food and washing the dishes. Then, plan the day's meals, list market needs, fix dinner vegetables, chop hash, and attend to anything necessary, so that all may be in readiness. Next, brush up and dust, and put the lower floor to rights. This done, close doors and go upstairs, taking anything that should go up.

Make the beds and straighten up, generally. Then wash, dress and go to market. The trip to market has two advantages: it forces a woman to change her thought, while getting air and exercise, and also trading directly with the market means saving money.

On getting home she slips into a house dress and is ready for the next duty. This may be a noon dinner. If not, the housewife prepares a bite for herself and the children all the afternoon to sew until she may look after her dinner preparation. While things are cooking she should arrange to do a little light reading. A book may be dropped at any moment when other things need attention. Dinner or supper over, the man helps with the dishes. Then all have a free hour with the children before they go to bed. Teach one child to help the other, and so to lighten mother's labor. Remember that they are growing older every day, and little duties make them more stable and dependable.

On Monday, the washing, if done at home, will take up most of the morning. If there is a washing machine, labor is lightened materially, and if the mother is wise enough to put her girls into the cotton-crepe dresses and bloomers and her boys into sturdy corduroys, her work will be lessened. Petticoats for youngsters to play in are a thing of the past, which saves a lot of laundry work. Sunday leftovers usually serve for Monday's meals with a little arranging and perhaps a fresh pudding.

Tuesday's ironing will take all morning. If it is not large, get it all ready, and attack it when you come home from market. The outing will do you good, and is worth while, even if the ironing laps over into the afternoon. On wash day and ironing day, an hour's nap should be managed, for the rest of the week is a long one.

Wednesday the thread should be picked up of little duties neglected. Silver should be cleaned, and, perhaps, windows washed and odd mending done. Thursday means clearing day upstairs. This may be finished by noon.

Friday is the day for cleaning downstairs, and this leaves Saturday for extra baking and putting the kitchen to rights. Saturday there will also be the children's luncheon at home to prepare, and this should leave plenty of time for an afternoon's outing for all.

FAMOUS "WITS" OF HISTORY
Little Stories of Men and Women Whose Sayings Are Still Remembered
By MARK STUYVESANT

The Joyous Way Thackeray Wore His Laurels.

None in the world ever had more of an appreciation of humor or the ludicrous than the distinguished novelist, William Makepeace Thackeray, whose novels, "Vanity Fair," "The Virginians" and "Henry Esmond," hold a foremost place in the literature of England.

While this jovial genius was visiting in America he furnished much fun and amusement for those who had the pleasure of knowing him. Among his friends was James T. Fields, who, in his "Familiarity with Authors," recounts many episodes which show the great novelist in his role of fun-maker.

It was nearly 2 o'clock in the morning when Fields and Thackeray left to go home. They stood by Thackeray's carriage. His coachman asked where he should drive.

Thackeray put on one of his most ludicrous expressions, and gravely said to John, the coachman:

"I think we will make a morning call on the Lord Bishop of London."

John, of course, knowing his master's style, choked down a laugh, and asked Mr. Field's address.

They drove Fields' home, and when they reached the house, Thackeray insisted upon seeing Fields safely in the door, because, he said,

"It would be shameful for a full-blooded Yankee friend exposed to rudeness, who proved about the streets with an eye to plunder."

After giving Fields what he called a magnificent embrace, Thackeray squared off and sang a verse of a funny song, breaking the stillness of the early morning. Then he made a sweeping bow, and with another good-night, jumped into his carriage.

This was the great author as he was, full of boyish fun and with the power to make everybody love him.

While Thackeray was leaving the hall he had just entered, Boston to a select Yankee friend exposed to rudeness, who proved about the streets with an eye to plunder."

ADVICE TO GIRLS :: By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl aged 18, and am in love with a young man of 22. He goes with many girls, but says that he loves me. He comes to see me very often, and if he misses a Sunday I think he doesn't love me.

He does not live here, and said if he did not love me he would not come this far to see me. Do you think he really loves me? He treats me very nicely when we go places, but he is always talking of some other girls. Do you think that I should let him know that I am jealous when he speaks of other girls?

He has not asked me to marry him, but says that he loves me. Do you think I should let him kiss me?

My mother thinks lots of him, and does not care when I have dates with him. He is a wealthy young man, and he is very good to me. When he is not with me I am very lonesome. I do not care to go with other young men. I am really unhappy when I'm with other young men. Please advise me what to do. Should I ask him not to go with other girls?

He says he would do anything for me. We treat each other very nicely. He does not like me to go with young men.

Every one tells me I am very attractive, and I could go with lots of others, but I do not care to. Please advise me what is best for me to do. CHERRY BLOSSOM.

CHERRY BLOSSOM: The young man must certainly care for you, my dear, as he comes from a distance to see you and treats you so kindly.

You should not be jealous. It will not do you any good—in fact, it will only make you unhappy, and tend to make you less attractive in the young man's eyes. Don't think of even mentioning the fact that you would like him not to go with other girls. You are a non-attached, and therefore, you should not object to his going about with other friends, and it would be much better for you to do the same thing, my dear.

It is neither proper nor wise for you to allow any young man to whom you are not engaged to kiss you. You know that.

You have everything to lose if you are a very happy girl, and if I were you I would not worry about anything, but just be your sweet smiling self always.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of 20, and am rather good-looking, but I cannot gain any friends. I am not full of life, and do not get to go out very much, for there is no one who cares to take me. I have one friend whom I can go with, but she drinks, and so my mother objects to my going with him.

I used to go with a young man of my age and began to fall in love with him, but now he has quit calling and I heard that he was going with another girl. I do wish you would advise me how to win this young man. MARGIE B. J.

MARGIE B. J.: Invite the young man to call on you. Then if he is anxious to be friends with you again, why not invite some of the boys and girls in for the evening some time? In this way you will be invited out in return, my dear. You should make an effort to bring people to you. When you want friends, you should go out of your way to make them.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper, and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her, in care of this office.

FRIDAY, MAY 12.

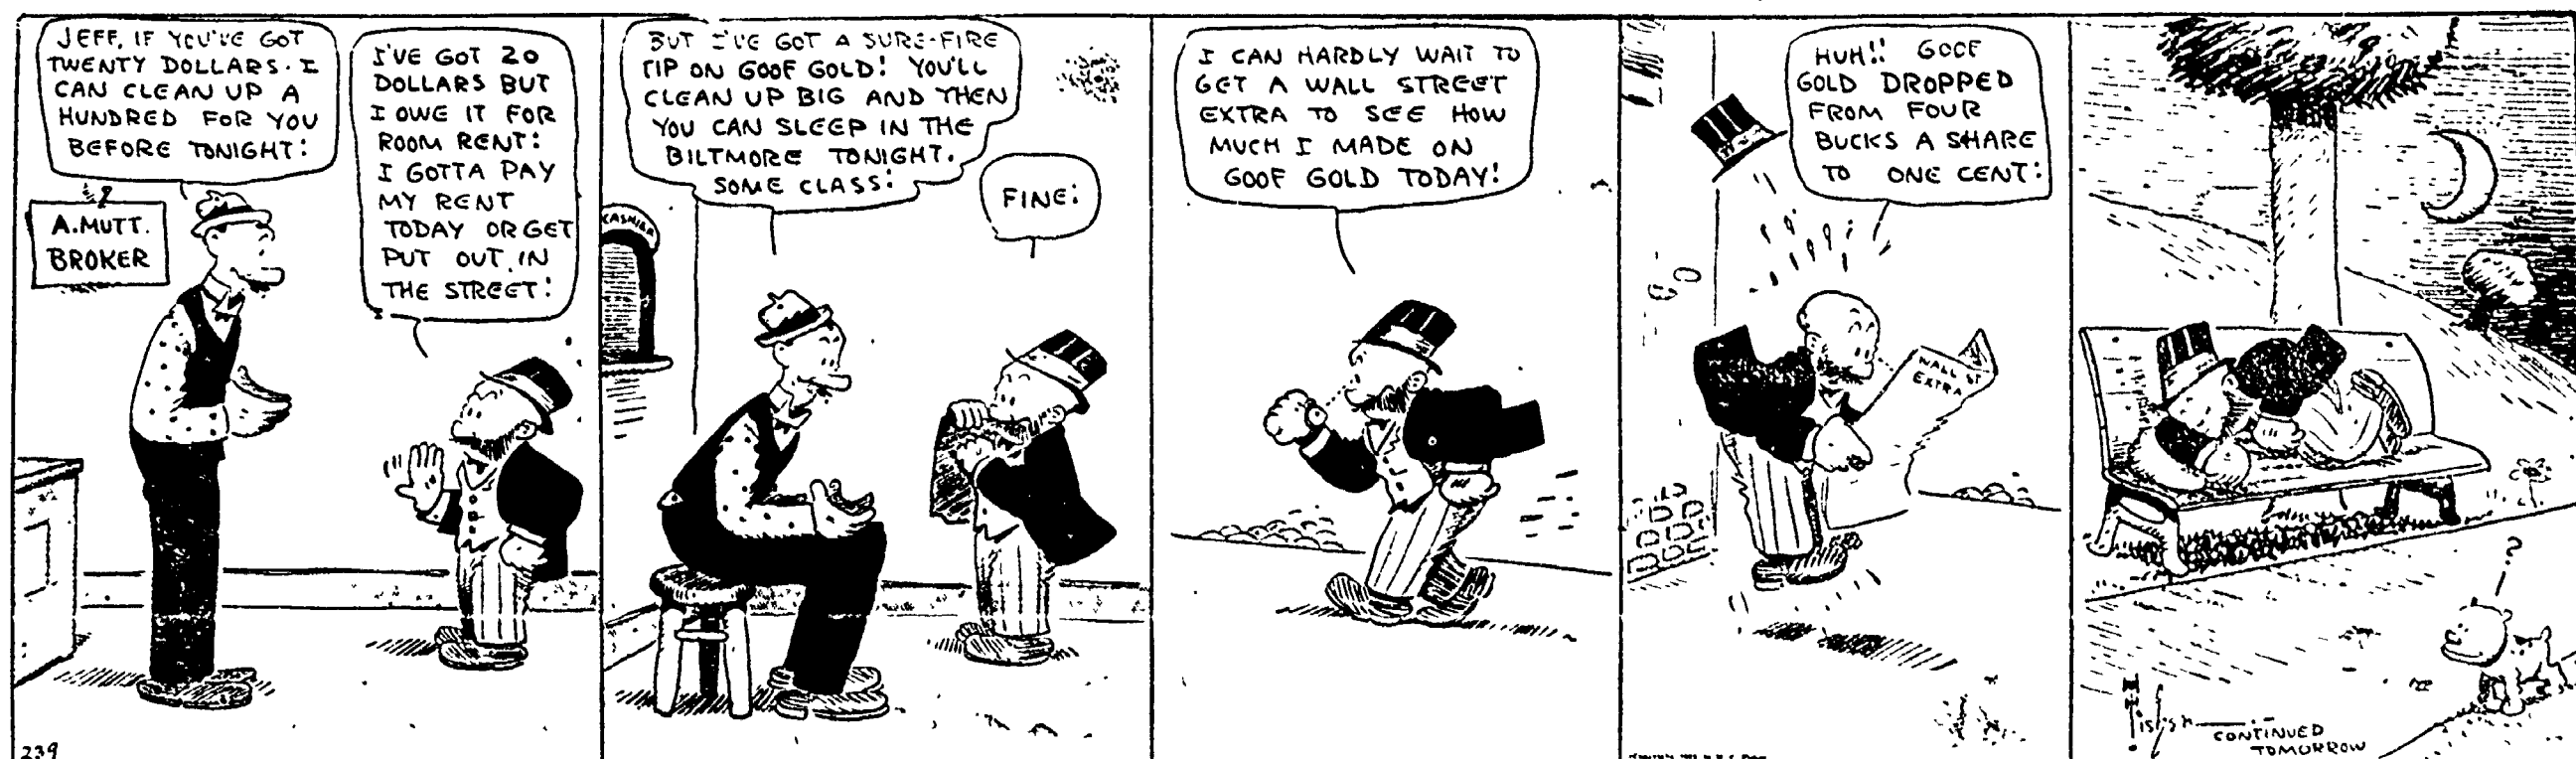

Conflicting conditions may be read from this day's contradictory sidereal operations. While there are likely to be some lively and profitable business transactions, yet there are certain baneful situations to be read from the lunar transits. There may be danger from misrepresentation, fraud or scandal, and all attempts at important change may be hazardous. However, there may be the lifting of some hindering influence making way for permanent improvement in affairs.

Those whose changeable year with fluctuating fortunes. Changes may be hazardous, and there may be danger from fraud or scandal. A child born on this day will be fortunate in its undertakings, and will be generously inclined, but may be erratic, unreliable and subject to adverse criticism unless carefully trained early in life.

TEN YEAR TRUCE

approve the idea of a truce in Europe, pending the reports of the commission no war.

Premier Lloyd George is determined if possible, to drag the conference thru until May 31, when the crisis will be reached in the German indemnity situation. If this can be passed he is hopeful of bringing a meeting of the signatories of the Versailles treaty to effect a permanent indemnity settlement.

The delegation representing the British Empire in the international conference has accepted Russia's reply as the satisfactory base for an European truce, it was officially announced today.

The British Empire was the first nation to accept the Russian note handed to the allies by George Tchitcherin last night.

The Italians are supporting the British viewpoint, but the French and Belgians are still hostile.

PARIS, May 12—Premier Poincare today instructed the French delegation at the Geneva conference not to withdraw but to obtain from all further negotiations over the Russian problem.

Louis Barthou will remain at Geneva to clean up international issues not connected with Russia. The Belgians are expected to follow France as the French and Belgians have been standing shoulder to shoulder on the Russian question. Neither France nor Belgium approved the memorandum of allied conditions presented to the Russians and both are opposed to the debt loans and property proposition.

The Petit Journal comments:

Premier Lloyd George already has chosen between the allies and the Anglo-Italian-Italian German pact. It is a question now whether British public opinion will back him up.

Lane, deceased, on the 11th day of May, 1922, filed his petition in the Probate Court of Coshocton County, Ohio, alleging that the personal estate of said deceased is insufficient to pay her debts and the charge of administering her estate, that she died in fee simple of the following described real estate, to-wit: Being 100 feet off the south end of lots 14 and 15 in Spangler's Sub-Division of Out lots in the incorporated City of Coshocton, Coshocton County, Ohio, as marked and delineated on the recorded plat of said Sub-Division. Excepting 12 feet off the East side of lot 14 heretofore reserved for an alley between said lots 13 and 14 in said Sub-Division. Said parts of lots 14 and 15 being now known as part of lots 367 and 368, as the same are re-numbered on said plat. The prayer of the petition is that said property may be sold to pay the debts and charges aforesaid. Paul Deckert and Gladys Deckert are hereby notified that they have been made parties-defendant to said petition and that they are required to answer the same on or before the 1st day of July, 1922.

PROPOSED MERGER OF SIX STEEL COMPANIES WOULD THROTTLE ALL COMPETITION, LAFOLLETTE SAYS

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The pending merger of the six great steel corporations was branded today as a dangerous probability of immense injury to the country, by Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, in a speech in which he demanded the senate pass his resolution asking an investigation of the proposed combine by the federal trade commission and the department of justice.

LaFollette declared that the combination would eliminate all competition in the steel industry and prices would be fixed without fear of detection, by the U. S. Steel Corporation and its twin brother, the unnamed trust.

The senator declared he wanted the department of justice to prevent the merger by the use of federal injunctions.

Reading an International News Service dispatch telling of steel market reactions, this morning, LaFollette declared there was need of immediate action.

"I desire, and I earnestly pray that the department of justice will be spurred to immediate action and will enjoin the merger before it is consummated, LaFollette said.

"The merger is being formed by the financial interests that formed the U. S. Steel corporation. Such a gigantic trust would throttle all competition in the steel industry," he said.

Reports indicate that while the Bethlehem Co. for diplomatic reasons apparently is not to be taken into the merger at this time the plans contemplate the absorption of this great corporation into the new trust within the near future.

"When this has been accomplished, every so-called independent steel corporation of any consequence in the United States will have been merged into one big combination and almost the entire output of iron and steel products will then be made under the control either of the U. S. Steel Corporation or of its twin brother.

"The purpose of this merger is clear. It is the elimination of whatever competition now exists in the steel industry and the creation of a situation where prices may be fixed on a monopoly without fear of detection.

"Of course the U. S. Steel Corporation does not object to this merger. There are strong indications that the same financial forces which formed the U. S. Steel Corporation are behind the new one."

He declared consummation of the merger must be prevented.

"The men who control this basic commodity, control the nation. A little more than twenty years ago they secured complete control of one-half the industry by the formation of a corporation so great that it staggered the nation. They could control the other half of the industry only by agreements and understandings with the so-called independents. These agreements were inconvenient and apt to be broken, when in periods of depression, there was a scramble for business."

BOYS FIND BOMB

CHICAGO, May 12.—"Bomb experts" of the police department rushed to the Packers' Machinery and Equipment Co. this afternoon after three boys in the neighborhood found what appeared a dynamite bomb in the rear of the place. The company had employed mill wrights under the Landis award.

The stick of cyanite was equipped with a percussion cap and a length of fuse which apparently had failed to burn.

Opening Our New and Enlarged Infants and Childrens Department

with a Special Sale and Display

Tomorrow May 13th to Saturday, May 20th

—to which every mother and kiddie in this community are invited. We have recently installed the most up-to-date fixtures in our Infants Section and enlarged our former Children's Department, so that now we feel we have one of the most attractive places for choosing the little one's clothes, that you'll see anywhere.

—And to fittingly celebrate the opening of this enlarged department, we have planned a special sale and display for one week—from Saturday, May 13 to Saturday, May 20. The most charming clothes imaginable for wee infants, small girls and their older sisters up to 16, are now featured in our windows and interior display and we know the Children will enjoy seeing the special "settings" and pretty things, as much as they will the balloons we are to give away—and mothers will be equally pleased, so we shall expect and have planned for a big turn-out of both mothers and kiddies.

—The New Dresses Are Made in Taffeta, Pongee, Swiss, Voile, Linen and Gingham, the Largest and Prettiest Display We Have Ever Shown, From Infants Sizes to Girls 16 Sizes.

This is Your Second Invitation

We have made an unusual effort to show some very new things for the "Kiddies." Everything is ready for Children's Day tomorrow at

FREE BALLOONS FOR THE KIDDIES

A great big bright colored balloon fitted with a wooden valve will be given free to each child attending the opening who is accompanied by an adult. The only provision is that their names, etc., be registered in our children's book. Bring your kiddies in—have them register and they will receive the balloon without charge.

quote from $20,000 to $25,000 annually to meet the obligation.

Many wonder why the city could not borrow money to help pay its current expense. It cannot because of the existence of so many conflicting laws. The laws are such that even the ablest lawyer cannot interpret them clearly. The banks refuse to loan the city money under such conditions for the reason that after the loan is made, the law may be declared unconstitutional and the city would then be without power to repay the money.

"It has been said that no paying has been done recently. This is true, but because of the high cost of labor and material, council has hesitated in encouraging special improvements.

One not knowing the financial condition of our city, and hearing the reports would form the opinion that the city was on the verge of bankruptcy. Very few manufacturing or business concerns are in a better financial condition than our city. Our bonded indebtedness amounts to $140,000. Of this amount $45,000 is on the city water works, leaving $95,000 in bonds to be paid out of the general taxation, while the water works pays its own bonds and interest from revenue from the plant. Therefore the amount of bonds to be paid by general taxation amounts to less than two thirds of one per cent of our city tax value, while the limitation is two and one half per cent.

"Most all municipal financial troubles for the past five years have been due to the one per cent tax limitation, which does not bring forth enough revenue to meet current expenses. Most cities have voted a special levy to meet the deficiency, in preference to borrowing money and having interest and bonds to pay out of tax revenue.

"The most practical plan for our city to follow, is to vote a special levy for a fixed length of time, to square away the city deficiency, and in normal times our revenues from taxes will take care of city current expenses.

"W. S. TISH, Mayor, City of Coshocton."

ly help knowing of the negotiations between Bethlehem and Lackawanna officials and that they were in the last stage of completion.

The Mather interest certainly have been aware of the impending deal and the reluctance today tends to strengthen the belief that the recent merger materialized according to scheduled plans.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—A government investigation into the Lackawanna steel merger was ordered by the senate today. The resolution was sponsored by Senator LaFollette. The resolution was accepted without a record vote.

The resolution calls on the government agencies to inform the senate what provisions they have taken to prevent the merger and what action the federal trade commission and the department of justice propose to take. The attorney general is asked to explain what action the government can take to prevent the merger.
